Artifacts Now Online!

The Heritage Museum has a wealth of artifacts for our visitors to view, however, the pandemic forced its doors to close. Though the museum has opened again, the world has changed. In response, we have created a website that will allow visitors from all over the world to view some of our collection! Accessible through the museum page on the Village of Glen Carbon website, our digital collection contains books, objects, archival documents, and photos that are important to Glen Carbon's history. The website will only grow and improve over time as volunteers take new photos, add details, and include more artifacts. Please visit our website:

Abraham Lincoln Event at the Glen Carbon Heritage Museum

Abraham Lincoln was a young man coming into his own at the same time as Illinois. From 1830 to 1860 both would grow to become integral to the United States, one as President of a nation in crisis, the other as the fourth largest state, full of promise.

Visit us on Saturday, July 30 at 5 p.m. for a glimpse of the past, discussion, and refreshments. This FREE event will be held outdoors at the Glen Carbon Heritage Museum pavilion with museum tours available before and after.
